Tons of Produce Donated by the Generous Dealers for the Good Cause.

How widely the distribution of free food by "The Evening World" Commission at 90 Murray street is known among those who are in need, was evidenced again today by the large crowd that gathered in front of 90 Murray street before the doors were unlocked.

Though the rush has necessitated that the supplies contributed by the wholesaler and generous merchants of the city be given only between the hours of 11 and 3, fully 100 people, mostly women, were in line by 8 o'clock this morning. This number kept increasing until by the time the doors were opened the street and sidewalks were fairly impassable.

MAX MERGENTIME.
Max Mergentime, the produce merchant who has taken hold of the free food project with such vim, bustled about all the morning, helping hand whenever needed. His teams were kept on a run gathering up the contributions of the wholesale and retail dealers of the neighborhood.

Among the applicants, and one of the earliest at that, was a German eighty years old, who had walked all the way from Fifty-fifth street. He said his family of six grown-up boys and girls and there was nothing in the house to eat. The rules were suspended in his case, and he was sent away with as much good, substantial food as he could carry. He was also given car-fare home.

At 11 o'clock, the doors of the commission were opened, and the morning's work began. The first thing to be done was to give out the food. The commission has been working for some time on the basis of a list of names of those in need, and the first thing to be done

ANOTHER BIG STORM!

Booming Along from the Gulf and Will Be Here To-Morrow.

May Equal in Severity the One That Has Just Departed.

Rain, Snow and High Winds on the Weather Bill of Fare.

There is another big storm coming.
It has appeared in the Gulf of Mexico, and is attended by high winds. It is due in New York to-morrow.

"This storm," said Weather Prophet Dunn this morning, "is likely to create high winds to-night along the Atlantic coast and the middle Atlantic States tomorrow. I will not say it will be as severe as the one that has just left us, but from present indications and the rapidity with which it is developing, it will be almost as bad. It will be attended with rain and snow, principally snow, with brisk to high northeasterly winds."

The temperature here at 5 A. M. today was down to 16 degrees. There was scarcely any wind, which accounts for the cold not having been felt. Mr. Dunn states that a wind from the south would be a relief to the cold. A wind from the north would be a relief to the cold.

There is a slight fall of snow over the New England States to-day. The temperature has dropped to 16 degrees in the middle Atlantic States, and warnings have been sent out of the approaching storm.

Just prior to the last storm nearly 200 telegrams were sent out by the Weather Bureau to railway companies and other agencies, warning them of the approach of the storm.

More will be sent out to-day concerning to-morrow's storm.

The cold wave of last night and this morning has put the ice at Manhattan Field in excellent condition for skating.
The ice will be open to the public today. There will be no skating in any of the parks. No attempt will be made to remove the snow, and as a result the ice is not in a suitable condition.

IN SNOW TO THEIR NECKS.

An Unpleasant Experience Due to Street Cleaners.

Some frost-panicked, who arrived on the Keynote steamer, Agent, which landed at the new pier No. 15, foot of Vesey street, this morning, were obliged to force their way through snow as high as their heads. The pier is a dumping ground for snow removed from the streets. Instead of dumping it into scows it was placed on the pier, which is 72 feet in length. Not less than a thousand cart loads were placed there during the night.

G. A. Woods, Inspector at the pier, states there was no snow dumped on the pier up to the time he left last night.
What was there must have been dumped during the night.

ALL THE CREW RESCUED.

The Minnie Rowan's Men Brought to Shore at 2 O'Clock This Morning.

SCITUATE, Mass., Feb. 14.—After several unsuccessful attempts, the crew of the wrecked schooner, Minnie Rowan, of Bridgeport, Conn., wrecked on Second Cliff, last night, was taken off at 2 o'clock by the station boat. The tide was well out and the water comparatively smooth.

The men were exhausted and Capt.
St. John was so seriously injured that he had to be carried to the boat to a house nearby. The names of rescued men are: A. Rude, mate; William Wilson, steward; George Miller, Sammie Ferguson, J. Sage and P. Grant. They were quartered in neighboring houses.

NEW LONDON EMMA NOT LOST

Sighted Off Block Island by the Tidy Adley.

The fishing smack New London Emma, which it was reported had foundered in the gale of Monday, has been heard from. The crew of the Tidy Adley, which arrived yesterday afternoon, reported that they had seen the Emma off Block Island. She was all right and had crew safe.

The owners of the New London Emma expect her in with a cargo of fish to-day.

Schooner and Crew Lost.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 14.—A schooner left from Tacoma, the schooner Josephine, which left this city early in December last, relates the loss of an unknown vessel while bound for Tacoma. The letter gives no description but the exact place where she sank. Capt.
Sturge says the unknown vessel was seen to be wrecked early in the evening, signaling that she was in distress. Before the Josephine could reach the strange vessel, she had sunk, and all on board were lost.

POVERTY THE CAUSE.

Health Department Not to Blame for Baby Troy's Condition.

The Health Department Inspector sent out yesterday to investigate the case of two-year-old Stephen Troy, who is seriously ill in the Presbyterian Hospital, with blood poisoning, the result of vaccination, it is said, reported this morning.

He said that it was the extreme poverty of the parents and their inability to provide proper food and care for the child that had caused its present condition, and not any fault of the Health Department.

FELON OR FREE MAN?

Czar John Y. McKane's Fate Will Soon Be Known.

Ex-Secretary Tracy Sums Up for the Prosecution.

Acquittal, He Declares, Means Law's Succession by Anarchy.

Only a few more hours of uncertainty remain for John Y. McKane. The last scene in a most memorable trial was enacted this morning, leaving it with the twelve representative citizens who have so patiently listened to the mass of testimony presented to decide just what McKane's fate should be.

The packed court-room alone was evidence enough of the feverish interest manifested by the public in the result of the trial. It required the combined efforts of a half-dozen policemen to keep the corridor clear of the throng which insisted on wedging itself against the big doors. Gen. B. F. Tracy, who was to make the plea for the prosecution, arrived early, and had to fight his way through the crowd, which would not even fall back in deference to the ex-Secretary of the Navy's hourly head.

As usual McKane was on hand long before his counsel arrived. He moved his seat back a few feet from the position he occupied yesterday during the address of ex-Judge Tracy. His place was taken by a very pretty girl, who sat beside Lawyer J. W. Wernberg and made strenuous notes of Gen. Tracy's speech.

McKane, when the ex-Secretary of the Navy began his address, assumed an easy air, which was not in keeping with the troubled look on his flushed face.

Gen. Tracy began speaking a few minutes after 9 o'clock. He at once gave evidence of the powerful effort which he afterwards put forth in the interest of his client, dealing at the beginning, however, by impressing upon the jury the enormity of the offense with which McKane was charged. He said:

"Gentlemen, the crime of which John Y. McKane is accused strikes at the very foundation of our system of government.
Should such practices obtain elsewhere anarchy, confusion and strife would follow every election."

"Not since the firing on Fort Sumter, in 1861, have the people been so startled as when, last February, a man, calling himself a lawyer, and who had been the town of Gravesend, with his 8,000 people, had registered 6,000 votes."

Gen. Tracy called the jury's attention to the fact that all statistics showed that the election of McKane was a fraud.
He said that the jury should be aware of the fact that the election of McKane was a fraud.

The news of McKane's machinations had been known to the jury since the beginning of the trial. He said that the jury should be aware of the fact that the election of McKane was a fraud.

"This is," he continued, "the first effort of a man to overthrow the elective franchise."

Gen. Tracy warned the jury that a disfranchisement of the people in any form would be a disaster to the country.
of the fact that the election of McKane
was a fraud.

McKane sat in his chair with an assumed indifference, but his face was pale. He looked at the jury with a nervous working of his right hand about his mouth. His little finger would not be steady, and occasionally McKane would take a bite at the finger-nail.

Gen. Tracy's speech was admitted by the numerous legal lights assembled in the court-room to have been a masterpiece of oratory. It was a model of presentation of the facts in the case.

THE R. P. CHANDLER WRECKED.

Passed at Sea in a Dismantled Condition.

No Sign of the Crew or a Living Being on Board.

QUARANTINE, S. I., Feb. 14.—Captain Davies, of the steamship North Anglia, which arrived this morning, reported passing the wrecked schooner Robert P. Chandler, which was wrecked on Feb.
1 in latitude 35.15 longitude 74.20.

The vessel was filled with water. Her sails and part of her houses were torn away, and only her foremast and bow-spirit remained standing. The vessel had evidently been wrecked in the hurricane of Jan. 30 and 31.

Capt. Davies made a close inspection of the wreck, but discovered no sign of life aboard.

He is of the opinion that the crew were washed overboard and drowned or perhaps lost their lives in endeavoring to escape from the wrecked vessel in the life boats.

The Chandler was built in Bath, Me., in 1882. She was 131 feet long, with a net tonnage of 267.23.

The Chandler is not mentioned in the Maritime Register, and it is said she has never been reported here. Representatives of ship agencies and owners stationed at the wharves, however, declined to examine and report upon the advisability of constructing a man-of-war from the wreck of the Chandler.

Dr. Doty, of the Department, has investigated the case of the Chandler, and has found that the vessel was in a state of decay, and that the crew was not properly equipped. He has found that the crew was not properly equipped.

HOT WORDS IN THE HOWE CASE

Lawyer Reilly Accused of Insulting One of the Witnesses.

Mrs. Price's Testimony Unshaken on Cross-Examination.

This was the fifth day of the trial of the suit in which Ithamar Howe seeks to recover $50,000 damages from Isaac O.
Woodruff, the wealthy Maiden lane drugist, for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections.

Just after the trial closed last night Juror 12 told Justice Ingraham that George Oswald had tried to talk to him about the trial. The story, however, showed that Oswald had not approached the juror in a criminal manner, and he was left with a reprimand.

Woodruff was again accompanied in court by the party of ladies who made their first appearance yesterday.

Mrs. Susan S. Price, a boarding-house keeper, at 35 Holman street, Boston, where Howe and his wife had the alleged trouble about the "Uno" letter, was again on the witness stand this morning, and Lawyer Reilly resumed cross-examination.

He had not asked more than three questions when Lawyer Taylor was on his feet, and asked the juror to dismiss the witness. The juror, however, declined to do so, and the trial continued.

In an instant Lawyer Reilly angrily replied: "I have conducted more trials than you, and I have never yet insulted a witness."

Both lawyers were glaring at each other, and the juror, who was in the middle of the trial, was in a state of confusion. The trial was adjourned until to-morrow.

THE NEW ANTIDOTE SUCCEEDS.

Arkansas Man Saved After Mor-phine's Effects Had Begun.

PARAGOULD, Ark., Feb. 14.—L. Rowland, who has a business and a good farm near town, tried to kill himself yesterday by taking three grains of morphine, and would have succeeded if he had not been rescued by a neighbor.

Dr. Meriwether said his pulse was only 50 and respiration 10, but in a few minutes after injecting the antidote into his arm he revived and is now well. He wrote a letter to his wife saying that circumstances caused his attempt at self-destruction.

The antidote mentioned in the above despatch is that lately discovered and demonstrated by Dr. William Moor, of the West Side German Clinic, in this city.

The Arkansas case, reported above, is believed to be the first test of the new antidote in an actual emergency.

JUDGE MAGEE'S WIFE DEAD.

She Dies of Paralysis at Her Home in Elizabeth.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Feb. 14.—Mrs.
Elizabeth M. Magee, wife of Judge Magee of the New Jersey Supreme Court, died this morning of paralysis, at her home, 555 North Broad street, aged 83-years.

She was a member of one of the oldest and most prominent families in Elizabeth. She leaves a son and a daughter.

HARRY HOFF SENT TO KILDEEN.

Maud McKenna, fifteen years old, was sent to the Reformatory by Judge Cowing, in Part III. of the

NEVILLE GETS A YEAR

The Election Inspector Sentenced by Justice Barrett.

Newsman Rue Given Six Months for Swearing He Was Blind.

Ten Other Election Prisoners Discharged from Custody.

When Justice Barrett opened the Court of Oyer and Terminer this morning District Attorney Fellows announced that he had a number of indictments in the election fraud cases which he would ask to be dismissed.

The prisoners were Patrick Roche, Henry Stannard, Maurice Ward, Robert Keenan, James H. Hart, John T.
Hall, Henry Oake, Joseph Jefferson, Alexander Phillips and John Murray.

These men had been indicted for perjury in falsely swearing that they were blind, in order to vote in the Twenty-first Election District of the Eighth Assembly, in which John Dunphy, who was convicted last week of fraudulent neglect of duty, was the Election Inspector.

It came out in Dunphy's trial that no oath was administered to these persons, and therefore they could not have been convicted of perjury.

Justice Barrett granted the application, and the prisoners named who had been brought into court were discharged.

Another batch of prisoners, who had been indicted for fraudulent registration, were then brought to the bar. They were Patrick Callahan, Louis Neeth, Michael O'Leary, Patrick Dougherty and John T. Hall.

All these persons had been inmates of the Tombs a long time, and had been convicted of perjury. They were discharged.

charged.

THE MARKET OPENS STRONG.

Sugar and Chicago Gas Buying Strengthens the List.

New England the Weak Feature in the Early Trading.

With the single exception of New England, which was weakened by the announcement that to reorganize the company on a sound basis on a sound basis the stockholders will have to be assessed $10 to $15 per share. The market was stronger this morning. It got its first impetus from London, where quotations for American securities were decidedly higher. The bulls on Sugar and Chicago Gas put in free buying orders, the execution of which caused a further rise in these stocks and imparted strength to the whole list.
